

900 MILES

by E.J. Runyon

Sudden luck strikes the one person who won't share the news.

It's a mega win on a weekly lotto ticket; a ton of cash.

Christina fills notebook pages with bucket lists, but can't bring herself to just pick any. Wanting but not letting herself have, that's Christina all over. Motherless, practically raising her stepdad Harrison instead of the other way around. For Christina, winning is what you hide so fate can't make it sour.

But fate has other plans.

Bit by bit, Christina's horizon widens. While she struggles with Harrison's addiction, and fights against all that she now has, fate wheels Christina to confront the young woman she could be, but can't yet face in the mirror.

PRAISE

"A Californian coming-of-age story bringing an alternative and more nuanced perspective to the usual sudden-riches narratives of either happy-ever-after or relationship ruin."

- Anne Goodwin

"Ms. Runyon handles tough subjects with a light touch. You're there. You see every detail. But she doesn't linger. She moves on and you turn the page."
